I'm here today because....

This is a speedy way to not only identify people's learning objectives but also to uncover other reasons they may be attending the training.

Have a 3x5 card at each person's place. After introductions, ask each person to write on their card: "I am here today because...."

When they have finished, put them into small groups and ask them to share what they have written with their group.

Alternatively, if time is short, put them in pairs. Collect the cards and post them so you can see them and refer to them throughout the training.
